

A. That's what it says here.

THE COURT: It's fair to say that he doesn't do the typing for --

THE WITNESS: No, I don't do the typing.

Q. No, I realize you don't do that, but as far as -- I'm asking you -- what I asked you before is who made the decision regarding the charges, not who wrote them out.

MR. MATHIESON: Objection.

THE COURT: Well, I guess it wasn't just him.

MR. ALOISE: Well, that's what I'm asking him.

A. Well, we all -- it was a team effort: Myself, the sergeant, everybody involved. The sergeant usually makes a final decision as to when we're in doubt as to what we make a charge with.

Q. As far as the assault by means of a dangerous weapon, did Thomas King tell you that he was assaulted with that bottle?

A. Thomas King --

MR. MATHIESON: Objection, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Well, he may answer that question.
