

Q. So when King turned around and came back and sat down, did you have any conversation with Mr. Elbery?

A. No, I walked away. And I can't remember exactly what happened, but I thought we had calmed it down. You know, I think I I hopefully said I was sorry, I don't know if I did or not, but I you know, and I hoped we had calmed it down from there. You know, I thought it was over.

Q. Okay. And you in fact turned around, walked away from

A. I went back to work.

Q. that particular location?

A. Right, I went back to work.

Q. And then you heard the smashing of a beer bottle?

A. And felt

Q. Right, and the --

A. the glass and --

Q. -- glass went flying around?

A. Right.

Q. Is it fair to say, sir, that there was no animosity, no display of anger at from Mr. Elbery to the woman who got cut under her eye from
