

your attention back to Mr. Elbery, after he initially walked in?

A. What happened?

Q. In other words, did something occur that directed your attention specifically back to Mr. Elbery again, after he initially walked in, sometime after that?

A. I think they may have been having words, Jeff and Mike. Nothing loud, but certainly talking to each other. You can't help but hear it if you're right next to it.

Q. Okay, so you were in close proximity. And by "words," you mean they were having some form of argument?

A. It was not necessarily an argument to start with.

Q. Okay. And they weren't speaking unduly loud at the beginning?

A. Just talking to each other.

Q. Were you engaged in conversation with Mr. DePasquale during this period of time?

A. At times.

Q. All right. What next did you observe, after becoming at least aware that Mr. Schlener and
